Primary Ethics seeks volunteers to help meet the need for ethics classes for children across NSW. While over 32,000 children in government primary schools benefit from ethics classes each school week, many more children are missing out.

Primary Ethics is the not-for-profit organisation that is authorised to develop and deliver special education in ethics to children in NSW.

We rely on parents, grandparents and community-minded people to become volunteer ethics teachers in their local primary school. It is a rewarding way to be involved in your local community, learn new things and help children develop skills for life.

Comprehensive training, access to lesson materials and classroom support are all provided. Previous teaching experience is not required.

Opportunities are also available for behind-the-scenes roles including coordinators and regional managers.

In time, not very much time at all, it will be the decisions of the children we teach today that will shape the world.
